Take your calibration to the next level...

With ISO 12647-2 certification

ISO 12647-2 is a hot topic within the print industry and an area for which Heidelberg has shown clear leadership.

Heidelberg offers its customers a certification process that meets the requirements of the current standard ISO 12647-2:2013.

The Heidelberg certification process is dedicated to the print and proof processes. In many respects, the procedure is similar to Process Calibration, but must achieve all process tolerances given in the international standard.
